DAVEY WANTS TO QUIZ WITNESS

Asserts Bradley Had Attempted To Sell Letters Before

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 19.—The special senate graft hunting committee declined today to accede to Gov. Martin L.
Davey's request that his attorney be permitted to cross-examine Lee Bradley of Cleveland, but the executive was invited indirectly to testify in the inquiry.

Members of the committee told the governor that the committee had "too much other work to do" and "too little time in which to do it" to permit the introduction of rebuttal testimony.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19.—The
senate investigating committee awaited today from Lee Bradley an explanation of a cryptic telegram which he termed "very important" in his efforts to link Gov. Martin L. Davey with an alleged $25,000 campaign fund "deal."

When the message was introduced at last night's hearing, Bradley, discharged employee of the governor, asked permission to "ramble over in my mind" the significance of the wire. Chairman Ralph J. Sekner then adjourned the meeting.

"Some one holding up on account of federal investigation," read the telegram sent to Bradley from Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 14, 1934.
"Agree to send men to various operations in Ohio and Indiana."
The telegram was "very important,"
Bradley said.

The message bore the name of Bruce H. Seabright, Wheeling auto dealer, who Bradley testified was designated by General Motors corporation to contribute $25,000 to Davey's 1934 campaign fund in return for an agreement to give the company one-half of the state's automotive purchases.

The committee also pondered a demand by governor Davey that his attorney be allowed to cross-examine Bradley and to introduce evidence to refute his statements which the executive labelled "vil-laneous falsehoods."

The governor in a letter to chairman Sekner, asserted the committee "accepted without restraint xxx the slanderous testimony" of Bradley and added:

"I assume you will not wish to indict your committee as an unfair and slanderous inquisition. If this be true, you can not honorably deny this request."

The letter said that Bradley had sought unsuccessfully to "sell this small alleged documentary evidence

Where Twister Tossed Autos

Wreckage at Rodessa, La.

This unique picture was taken at Rodessa, La., after a roaring tornado killed at least 18 persons and did damage estimated at $250,000. Might of the twister is indicated by the auto—perched atop what once was a Rodessa building. The tornado was as brief as it was destructive.

Motorist Jailed After 10-Minute Wrestling Match

Patrolman Paul Ormsby had to wrestle with one of two men he arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated, for about 10 minutes, before the prisoner was handcuffed Friday evening.

The man who resisted arrest is James Smith, 20, of R. D. 4, Salem, who police said, fled across back lots in an attempt to escape after his automobile caused a collision at the intersection of Franklin and Maple st., at 6:45 p. m.

Smith, Patrolman Ormsby said, attempted to make a left turn onto Franklin st., in front of a machine operated by Peter E. McNabb of 1113 Franklin ave., causing the accident.

Mrs. McNabb, riding with her husband, suffered an injury to one hand.

Curtis Coy, of Greenford, a passenger in Smith's car, was held on a charge of intoxication.

The second motorist arrested on a charge of driving while intoxicated is Allan B. Hutcheson, 50, of 545 Aetna st.

He was nabbed by Patrolman Ormsby shortly after he struck a parked car on Aetna st., owned by Frank Flayton of Gross Point, Mich.

The officer said Hutcheson was driving his car without lights.

Both men were to be arraigned today before Mayor George Har-rort.

Action Is Speeded On Roosevelt Plans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Congressional leaders, determined to make this a short, productive session, concentrated today on hastening action on President Roosevelt's legislative program.

The leaders and most members were hopeful of adjournment early in May. Many of the law-makers were anxious to get back home and look after their election-year political interests.

The faster tempo of congress the last week heartened leaders. Accused was completed on one major bill, the new agricultural adjustment measure, and several others moved substantially nearer enactment.

The southern filibuster against the anti-lynching bill has held up senate progress. However, senate leaders said the measure would be laid aside Monday. The senate is to start work then on the house-approved $250,000,000 deficiency relief appropriation, reported out yesterday by the appropriations committee.

GOVERNMENT IS READY TO LEND

RFC Instructed by President to Resume Business Loans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The administration made $1,500,000-600 available to business today for unemployment-producing loans as a part of its easy credit, non-inflationary recovery policy.

This sum was offered to industry when President Roosevelt instructed the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to resume business lending. Except for a few railroad loans, the RFC had ceased lending last October.

While Chairman Jesse H. Jones said the RFC had $1,500,000,000 available, he predicted only "a few hundred millions" would be lent.

Meanwhile, the twelve federal reserve banks called business' attention to their continued ability to make direct loans to industry.
They also pointed out that the lendable excess reserves in the nation's commercial banks totaled $1-360,000,000.

While President Roosevelt in discussing economic policy at a press conference yesterday talked at great length on his desire for a "balanced" price structure, some observers held that of more importance to business was his assurance that he was not planning to inflate or devalue the dollar.

Those of this view said his statement amounted to saying the administration would continue its present course, using only such mild recovery levers as easy credit, the farm act, the RFC, and relief.

Urges Gradual Increase
Mr. Roosevelt displayed charts showing how prices and employment had gone up and down together in recent years. He urged a gradual increase in the price of most raw materials and some finished products which have declined sharply because they are sold on a highly competitive basis.

He said some other prices which he did not name were too high, and that anti-trust action might be resorted to if necessary to bring them in balance with other quotations.

Pleading for stable wages, the President advised industry to cut prices of finished goods and thus increase volume sales to a point where labor cost per unit of output would decline without a cut in employees' wage rates.

To the consumer, he pointed out living costs would not be affected materially by a higher basic commodity price level.

KIRK'S FORMER AIDS IN LINE FOR JOBS AGAIN

Thirty Heads Roll As Engineer's Office Gets
New Boss

20 HOLD-OVERS TO BE CONTINUED

Work Suspended Today
During Reorganization Activities

LISBON, Feb. 19.—Thirty men, appointees of Robert S. Wheatley, were lopped from the county engineer's payroll today under orders from Lloyd Kirk who succeeded Wheatley Friday as head of the department following a long court fight.

All employees received brief notices signed by Kirk today notifying them their services no longer were required if their names did not appear on the county payroll as of January 4, 1937. This automatically removes all of the former engineer's appointees.

Former Aids Eligible
Kirk did not name the successors of the dismissed employees but indicated his former employees would be hired when ever possible.
"Some of them undoubtedly have jobs at present which they may not care to relinquish," he stated.
At least 20 hold-overs will be continued. These are employees formerly working for Kirk who were retained by Wheatley when he entered office a year ago. The list includes James Bell, George Jones, Andrew Johnson, W. C.
Henderson, Carl Ewing, John Hiv-
ely, Charles Shriver, George Smith, Tom Loudon, Earl Smith, W. H.
Welsh, Merle McDevitt, Merle Burson, Roy Beckwith, John
Shriver, David Stockman, H. W.
Wolfe.

Work Suspended Today
George Porter of Lisbon, former chief deputy, has been re-appointed to succeed J. T. Rafferty of Salem.

Work was suspended today for all employees except the office force, pending reorganization. Kirk expects to complete his staff by Monday and is preparing for additional work when 300 more WPA workers are assigned to projects under his supervision Wednesday.

Richard Gardner
Dies In Chicago
Richard Gardner of Chicago, former Salem policeman, died yesterday afternoon at the home of his son, Clyde, in Chicago where he had near Valley for many years, was born in Salem and lived here practically all his life. His wife died about three years ago.

Mr. Gardner leaves the one son,
Clyde, in Chicago; a niece, Mrs. L.
E. Nutting, and a nephew, Ralph Martin of Salem; one brother, Robert, and a nephew, Carl Gardner, of Philadelphia. Bruce Gardner of Salem is a grand nephew.

The body will arrive in Salem Sunday from Chicago. Funeral service will be held at 2 p. m.
Tuesday at the Stark Memorial.
Burial will be in Hope cemetery.

Friends may call at the Memorial Monday evening.

Junior High Figures Show Value Of Health Program

Frank Gordon Keeps Lads, Lassies In Trim; Average
Gain In Five Months Is 6.14 Pounds

The importance of a well-guided health program for boys and girls of Junior High school age was stressed today by Frank Gordon following his observations of the physical development of 107 eighth grade students over a period of five months.

Gordon, a graduate of Wittenberg college and head of the physical education department at Junior High school, compiled information on the growth of Junior High pupils by keeping routine records of the height and weight of students in four of his eighth grade physical education classes.

Average Gain 6.14 Lbs.
During the period of observation,
the average gain in weight was 6.14 pounds and the average increase in height was 1.25 inches. The total number of pounds gained by the 107 students in five months was 665 and the total number of inches they increased in height was 150.5.

Only one of the 107 pupils failed to show an increase in height or weight. The largest gains were made by two boys, one of whom boosted his weight by 14 pounds and increased his height two inches. The other boy gained 13 pounds and grew three inches.

Gordon points out the development of the students in height and weight clearly shows that boys and girls of Junior High age are growing very rapidly and should receive the most careful physical, mental and moral training.

"The physical strength and the mental and moral attitudes which they take with them in later life are being formed at this age," he explains.

Exercise, Diet, Sleep Essential
"The benefits of exercise in the fresh air and sunshine, a well-balanced diet and eight to 10 hours of sleep are essential elements for each boy and girl of this age."
"It is through the cooperation of the parents, teachers and pupils that these essentials will be met and health habits guided in the right direction".

Gordon, who assists in coaching the junior varsity football team and conducts an inter-class basketball program in addition to his regular duties as a teacher and physical education instructor, was an All-Ohio football player at Wittenberg in 1936.

He is the first Junior High teacher to have charge of the physical education training of seventh and eighth grade pupils.
Previously, the Junior High students received physical education instruction from a member of the High school faculty.

New Nazi Moves Tighten Nerves of Europe

Grave tension prevailed in European capitals as Nazi force found its way into the cabinet of Austria. England and France acted to ask Chancellor Adolf Hitler to declare his intentions in Austria, which was resented of the war-like coup that caused cabinet appointments of Nazi sympathizers.
Russia was nervous over reports a Nazi-Fascist pact had been reached whereby Germany would give Italy raw materials and certain privileges in return for a free hand in Austria. Heads of the nations involved are pictured—Adolf Hitler of Germany, Benito Mussolini of Italy, Neville Chamberlain of England, Camille Chautemps of France and Josef Stalin of the Soviet Union.

year's illness.

Born in Pittsburgh, Mr. Barr came to Lisbon 40 years ago. For a number of years he served the county as sealer of weights and measures. He was a regular attendant at the Methodist Episcopal church.

Surviving him are his wife, Ge-neeta Stark Barr, and one son, Robert, at home.

President Begins Short Rest Today

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Feb. 19.—
President Roosevelt, on his first trip away from Washington in two and a half months, began a four-day rest from heavy official cares at his boyhood home today. He had no set engagements for the day.

The chief executive, accompanied by a skeleton temporary White House staff, arrived by special train from Washington last night.
Secretary Morgenthau accompanied the chief executive here. He was at his nearby farm at Fishkill today.

The President until he left yesterday afternoon had not been out of Washington since Dec. 6, when he returned from a Florida fishing cruise.

Increase Is Shown In Tax Collections

LISBON, Feb. 19.—Collection of first half real estate taxes show a 50 per cent improvement over payments made during the corresponding period last year, County Treasurer Glen Dawson reported today.

The tax commission's refusal to extend the deadline past March 15 is held responsible for the improvement. A 10 per cent penalty is effective immediately following the expiration of the deadline.

The commission authorized Dawson to open his books Feb. 15, several weeks later than the usual date.
Revision of Whittemore Act contracts by the office was responsible for the delay.

Tuesday Is Holiday
For School Pupils
Salem's 2750 public school students will enjoy a one-day vacation Tuesday when the schools close in observance of Washington's birthday.

Principal Harold M. Williams said
C. W. Sorenson, Royal Geographic Society Fellow, would address the High school students at an assembly next Thursday. He will speak on "Caravan Trails in Arabia."

The annual spring vacation for the school pupils will be from April 11 to 15.

REICH LEADER TO TELL WORLD WHAT HE'S DOING

Collaborators Predict He Will Deliver Message
Of Peace

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA HOPES AND FEARS

One Source Says Amnesty
For Political Offenders Looms

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Three weeks of wild rumors of momentous changes in central Europe reach their climax, perhaps with a sign of fulfillment, when Reichsfuehrer Hitler delivers his newest message to the world tomorrow.

The old, familiar question "what will he do next?" echoed in all the chancelleries and parliaments of Europe. But there was no official indication of what might be his plans or to what degree he proposed to reveal them.

Predict Peace Message
His closest collaborators predicted it would be a "message of peace."
But that was small comfort to anxious statesmen. Hitler also talked of peace in that reichstag speech of March, 1936, in which he announced remilitarization of the Rhineand—and thereby made the Locarno security pact a dead issue.

There were both hopes and fears that he might state more precisely tomorrow his intentions in Czechoslovakia, where live some 3,000-600 pro-Nazi, Sudeten Germans, close to the border of Nazi Germany.

The propaganda ministry persuaded the official Czechoslovakian Broadcasting company to carry the Reichstag speech throughout the Czech republic.

Many in political circles felt certain Hitler would demand autonomy for Sudetenland (South Germans), and the willingness to broadcast the speech was taken as an indication Czech Premier Hodza was willing to pay the price of autonomy to Germans in Czechoslovakia for peace with a powerful neighbor.

It was taken for granted he would picture the recent changes in Austria—the naming of five cabinet ministers favorable to Germany and the freeing of Nazi political prisoners—as a vital step toward European peace.

May Tell About Contacts
He was expected to cite his talks
last week with Austria's Chancellor Schuschnigg as an example of how direct contact between statesmen could move mountains of misunderstanding.

It also was assumed he would refer to the Feb. 4 concentration of German military power in his own hands, and indulge in a few gibes at those who had rumored his army was collapsing.

A source close to the German chancellery said Hitler would declare an amnesty for political offenders against the third reich, benefiting both Catholic and Protestants who have been arrested.

It was various political charges.
It was assumed pending trials of Catholic priests and nuns would be quashed, and there was evidence pressure already was being lifted from the Evangelical church with permission to reopen various long closed offices.

Mail Deliveries Suspended Tuesday

Although mail will be received and dispatched through the postoffice Tuesday, Washington's birthday, there will be no regular deliveries.

Due to the legal holiday, the postoffice will be closed and no windows in the lobby will be open for business, Postmaster A. E.
Beardmore said.

The internal revenue office on the second floor of the postoffice also will be closed Tuesday. However, the office will be open all day Feb. 23, 24, 25 and March 1.

John Grafton, internal revenue collector, announced that office would be open 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.
daily from March 8 to 15, inclusive.

NEW ATTITUDE IN 1938

If economists and guessers not calling themselves economists are right, things no longer need to get worse before they can get better.

The low point of recession has been touched, it is said. During the latter part of March and in April, marked improvement is expected. Things will continue to improve slowly during the summer and fall, is the prediction.

The significant fact is that, barring some unforeseen development like a major war affecting the United States, no one at present is talking about a boom—and probably not even thinking about one.

This is the sign of a new attitude. In 1933 the country looked forward to getting out of its worst depression. In 1934 and 1935 it had convinced itself recovery was possible. In 1936 it began to dream of a boom. By the autumn of 1937 it had been disillusioned. In 1938, it is thinking again of recovery, not a boom. The new attitude is healthier.

It is being encouraged by President Roosevelt, who wields tremendous psychological influence. Mr. Roosevelt, apparently, is leaning over backward to promote a lull in domestic affairs, perhaps believing there is enough to be concerned with at the moment in the field of foreign affairs.

The result is not exciting, but it's not excitement the country needs. There is, indeed, good reason to believe it has gone stale from too intensive preoccupation with controversy; that it can profit from a thorough deflation in this direction.

Certainly it cannot be disputed that over a long pull there is more to be lost than gained from continuous surprises and radical moves, which in themselves are an indication of a distraught condition. The best state of mind for dealing with more than ordinary problems is more than ordinary calmness.

Due to the experience all Americans have been having with the deflationary trend off and on during the last eight years, enabling them to adjust themselves more easily to the latest shock than to the previous ones; thanks to the present tendency of the President to sit tight and forego new controversial experiments; and with allowances for those numerous persons who thrive on excitement or see no reason to believe anything will work anyway, there is a lull at this moment and a healthier popular atmosphere as the result of the lull.

Congress, it may be assumed, will approve expansion of the navy when the question comes to a vote. The thing blocking popular support of naval expansion in the meantime is suspicion that big navy drumbeaters are trying to put over a fast one.

They haven't been able to stifle suspicion that while they're talking about national defense on two coastlines at once they really mean enough naval power to deal with potential invaders outside the defense zone. President Roosevelt's famous Chicago speech about punishing aggressor nations can't be laughed off.

The question settles down, therefore, to one of confidence in what is being said by big navy advocates. The possibility they are quibbling—hiding the main fact by talking about a secondary fact—is too real to be ignored. If Americans as a whole were sure an expanded navy would be used for nothing but national defense, in the usual meaning of that phrase, there would be no further discussion.

But Americans are not sure the big navy men mean what they say. They think of President Roosevelt as a big navy man. It is unfortunate this situation has arisen. Under any other form of government, it couldn't have arisen. But under the American form of government the question, having arisen, should be settled before further steps to expand the navy are taken.

GRAFT, AMERICAN STYLE

There have been many occasions during the Ohio senate's graft investigation when the most surprising thing about its disclosures was the lack of surprise with which they were heard.

There may be persons out of touch with affairs who think it's uncommon to grease palms in the conduct of public business. Seemingly, almost everybody else knows it's not uncommon at all.

Thus, it is literally true the senate investigation, instead of disclosing things few persons knew were being done, is disclosing practices so common, so hard to uproot, that they are dangerously close to being taken for granted—a far more damaging disclosure than the disclosure of hitherto unknown and unheard of shenanigans.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, February 20

Sunday's horoscope holds a portent of difficult and disturbing conditions, with trickery, loss and probably bad judgment or errors taking toll. Papers or contracts may be lost; finances and extravagantly handled elders may give concern.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of unsettled, restless, disturbed and unprofitable situations unless they avoid extravagance, indulgence and immoderate emotional adventures, with the possibility of being involved in a peculiar or fraudulent entanglement.

A child born on this day may have large, overexpansive and ambitious ideas. Its carelessness with writings or documents may lead it into fraudulent or tricky involvements.

For Monday, February 21

Monday's astrological forecast is for a day on which plans, incident to the clearing up of some long stagnant situation or to the disposition of an old matter, perhaps connected with work, property, or neglected investment, may be fulfilled.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate soon the breaking up of an old congested condition which may lead up to some practical, constructive work. This may concern elders, old investments, property or other solid possessions.

A child born on this day may be clever, shrewd, probably preferring to gain its ends by secret agreements or expediency rather than high principle. It may have writing ability of a rather mysterious or subtle nature.

O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following "New York Day by Day" column, by Oscar Odd McIntyre, was prepared by the famous New York writer and distributed prior to his death.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—A fine hawdy-do. On the day I'm invited to a spiffy dinner I wake up with a puffed eye. Everybody will, of course, believe that I haven't the slightest idea where I got it. Like fun, they will! By evening it will likely suggest a Neapolitan sunset.

In fact, there is no explanation a guy can make about a moused eye that won't cause them to titter behind their fans. Imagine how the real truth would sound! Such as this: "All I know is that I was in bed early, slept well and when I awakened there it was!"

They'd go into hysterics with that. The thing to do is dudge it up with a few fancy trimmings. How would this go, "My man Parkinson looked in several times on me during the night and saw nothing untoward." I love that "untoward." I'll run through that again.

That might get over if I'd say it and let it lay. But no, when I explain anything that's a bit phoney I have to go on and on and wind up with a trilly little laugh. Like a High School girl with her first beau. I can't bark it out in a take it or leave it manner. I have to sneak in a trill.

I wonder where I picked up trilling. Not from my folk. They spoke out at meeting and you could like it or lump it. But I have to be so dad-gasted mealy-mouthed even when it's nobody's business. Why should I have to explain to people who don't give a hoot? I've known a fellow with a wart on his nose for 30 years and not once has he offered an explanation. But if I had it, I'd have to carry along a set of blue prints.

But I'm different. No back-bone. Just a salvermouthered groveler. No wonder they cuff me around. If I had any sense I'd crawl back under the porch and stay there. Always in people's way, bowing and making excuses for living. What good am I to the world? I can't even stretch out for the night without some low skulking thing sneaking up and socking me in the peeper or something. Eureka! That gives me an idea for a bang up alibi. Also I can make myself something of a hero.

Fierce fight with a burglar in early dawn! There he was—make out I'm telling the dinner crowd now—silhouetted against the window in the light of the moon. I might make that "frolicsome moon" to make it sound more literary. Anyway, there he was, his face masked, coat collar turned up. With a bound I leaped from bed and was on him, swaying this way and that, upsetting bric-a-brac, tearing down portieres and gripping the hand that held a blue steered 44. Once I felt a touch of cold steel at my temple and round and round we swung—we seem to be waiting—until I got the pistol out of range. Finally with a mighty heave, I threw him to the floor, sat on his chest until the police came. Then dusting off my hands lightly, said: "Officer, here's your man!"

That sounds pretty good at that. All except explaining the shiner. I failed to do that. I know. In the struggle I crashed the edge of a door but it was nothing—business of flicking a raveling off the coat lapel—a mere nothing. All that story lacks is a bit of love interest and it would be o. k. for Harry Burton.

SYPHILIS
MEDICAL SCIENCE has always waged war against syphilis. It has been one of the hidden wars of mankind. At present a definite campaign against venereal diseases is being carried on by the lay public, as well as by the medical profession. Let us hope this marks a definite step toward the ultimate eradication of this social disease.

Only recently the United States surgeon general published an article in which he stressed the fact that syphilis must be regarded as a national scourge. He urged the public necessity of ending it. The doctor pointed out that if proper publicity is given to the means of dealing with the disease it may disappear within a reasonable length of time.

Regarded as Shameful
Heretofore, there has been great reluctance about discussing this affliction of mankind. The disease has always been regarded as a shameful thing and its known victims have been avoided. Those who sought medical treatment did so in secret. If that attitude were to continue, the disappearance of the disease could never be expected.

Everyone should be familiar with its dangers and need of proper treatment. Medical advice should always be available. What is more important, it should be known by all that it can be cured. The control and ultimate extermination of syphilis is the object of the campaign. To accomplish the end desired, it is necessary to have complete co-operation of the public and the medical profession. Neglect of the disease means serious complications to the afflicted one. It means, too, the spread of the disease to others, unsuspecting and innocent persons. Quick recognition means complete cure for the victim and safety for others.

Consult Physician
If a person fears he has this disease, he should consult with a physician immediately. Since the first effects of syphilis are often painless, or entirely absent, the disease may be overlooked. But if there is the slightest possibility of its presence, medical attention should be had at once.

The doctor is frequently asked whether it is possible to be cured of syphilis. The answer is, yes. Early recognition and early treatment.

Weighed And Found Wanting

The man who hopes to stand before God, clad in his own righteousness, is possessed of an empty, vain and dangerous optimism. "The man that sinneth, it shall die," is already pronounced on the soul of the sinner. Jesus stands on rocky ground, demanding fulfillment of the whole law, and never intending to put its sword into the sheath and to forgive the offender. Upon Sinai the dew of mercy never fell. Weighed in God's balances, we are found wanting.

For help the sinner must look to the old rugged cross. Confessing his sin, the law-breaker turns to the cross of Jesus Christ which cleanseth us from all sin. On the cross we see the strange and marvelous meeting point of justice and mercy. God's justice is upheld when the Son of God is punished for our sin. God's love is demonstrated in sending for the sinner this way of escape from eternal doom to eternal bliss.

My hope is built on nothing less Than Jesus' blood and righteousness.

On Church the solid Rock I stand. All other ground is sinking sand."

Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock regular monthly meeting of the Daughters of Emmanuel in the social rooms of the church. First, they are able to increase their knowledge of spiritual truth, and, second, they become better acquainted with one another. Third, the members of a church society not only benefit themselves and the church, but also the church as a whole. Remember this and come.

Jesus called workers to carry on the labors of the Kingdom. He called them from the middle class of people, but under His training and leadership, they have laid the foundation of a mighty movement, that has no equal nor rival for influence and power. One of the joys of the Christian life is the fellowship of working with others for Christ.

There is a true comradeship in Christian service. There is the common goal and the same type of Christian life. It is an honor to be numbered among the servants of Jesus Christ.

Morning worship, 11—Sermon.

There were some dark days for our Master. He had not come into the world to bask in the sunshine of popularity and acclaim. This approval came of its free-will. Jesus came to face life and to dare to meet every experience of gloom and sunshine. Life has its shadows and gloom, but under His training and leadership, they have laid the foundation of a mighty movement, that has no equal nor rival for influence and power. Christian Science Services Sunday "Mind" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read at the morning worship of the Christian Science Society tomorrow. The Sunday service is also broadcast over station WHK, Cleveland, the second and fourth Sundays of each month.

Sunday school for pupils up to the age of 20 years will be held at 9:30 a. m., while on Wednesday the mid-week service will be held at 8:30 a. m.

The Golden text is: "O Lord, how great are thy works! and thy thoughts are very deep" (Psalm 92:5).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God spake all these words, saying . . . Thou shalt have no other gods before me" (Exodus 20:1,3).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Eddy Baker: "Heaven is not a locality, but a divine state of Mind in which all the manifestations of Mind are harmonious and immortal, because sin is not there and man is found having no righteousness of his own, but in possession of 'the mind of the Lord,' as the Scripture says, (p. 291).

Arkansas Facing Threat of Floods

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 19.—

Three rivers and their numerous tributaries roared an ominous flood threat to Arkansas today with other sections of the south covered from effects of storm which claimed at least 27 lives.

Hundreds of persons fled their lowland homes as the Ouachita, Arkansas and White rivers, swollen by a week's downpour, spilled their excess burden over thousands of acres of farm lands. Army engineers said the predicted crest probably would bring greater flood problems than in 1935.

Relief workers at Rodessa, La., commenced rehabilitation work in the little oil field community where a tornado ripped through the residential section Thursday night leaving 25 persons dead, 41 injured and four missing.

"Women In Love" by May Christie

SYNOPSIS

When her father's bank fails, Ann Delafield decides to help the family exchequer by going to work. She obtains employment as "comparison-shopper"—buying competitors' products to compare with those of Barclay & Weiss, a large department store, for which she works. Ann is attracted to handsome Paul Bradley, the merchant manager who hired her. He is her idea of a real man compared with the young wastrels in her society set. Brenda Selz, the gift shop buyer and Ann's superior, who loves Paul in vain, is jealous of Ann. On her first day at business, Ann meets an old admirer, Gordon Gavin. Gordon's father was ruined in the crash and committed suicide, and the former playboy is now an advertisement writer for Barclay & Weiss. Renita Parrish, another employee, resents Gordon and Ann, and together they and Brenda at them. Following his father's death, Gordon dropped his rich friends and had found Renita balm for his loneliness. He now regrets that he ever encouraged her. Ann does well on her job much to Brenda's chagrin. At a society masked ice-carnival for charity, Ann is singled out from the crowd by a tall man who "skated" perfectly. There was something magnetic about him. In a secluded nook, he kisses her. Ann pulls off his mask. It is Paul Bradley; Ann's heart skips a beat but she refuses to let him know her identity for fear of spoiling things. She leaves before the midnight unmasking but, before departing, gives Paul a tiny onyx cat from her bracelet as a souvenir. Thinking to propitiate Brenda, Ann had placed an order with her for a thousand dollars worth of masks and dominoes. Brenda had been unable to dispose of this stock. But most of the people brought their own to the carnival so a greater part of the merchandise was returned. Brenda tries to put the blame on Ann but Paul defends her to the management. Mr. Weiss, the owner, has no love for Society because he has had no end of trouble since his family became social-climbers, and for that reason is prejudiced towards Ann.

CHAPTER XI

When he had gone, that dynamo of energy, Paul Bradley, sat curiously still at his desk. It was a sparkling morning in the third week of November. A tang was in the air to fire one's blood and one's imagination. The discussion anent masks and dominoes brought recollection of his witty little partner at the carnival. Who was she? Was it possible that it was Ann Delafield herself?

For one who was a confirmed bachelor, his life dedicated to his business, it had been disconcerting that during the weekend intervening between now and the Ice Carnival, thoughts of the unknown girl, as lovely as a flight of bluebirds, had flitted continuously through his mind.

He had driven to Sleepy Hollow for air and exercise and golf. He had played badly on Sunday morning—off his game, he was—and ridden horseback during the afternoon through woodland glades that were like fairyland. Autumn leaves lingered on the trees. The sense of fleeting beauty filled him with bitter-sweet nostalgia.

After dinner, sitting before a log fire, it was curious that a girl's face rose in the blue smoke, nebulously.

For what? For happiness in life. For something, in this world of change, that one could cling to.

After dinner at the club that night, sitting before a log fire, pipe in hand, a highball at his elbow, it was curious that a girl's face rose in the blue smoke, nebulously.

But romantic love was a flop, these days. It didn't last. Witness the marriages of everyone about him!

Even outside of marriage it didn't mean anything for long. Who, in the impermanent atmosphere of today, had a claim on the affections of anybody?

Work was the one solidity in life. It never failed one.

Big obstacles to overcome were grand, whetting one's zeal. If it weren't for the petty annoyances.

Like Brenda Selz, who had always seemed a charming woman, he had thought, having it in for the little comparison-shopper.

And Renita Parrish, Head of Stock in the Dress department, who had been extremely competent until she saw Ann with Gordon Gavin. Since which time it was only too obvious she had been drinking too much.

The Dress department was lagging in figures, getting behind. He must call the Dress Buyer, and Renita, and plan a promotion campaign to bring figures up to par, to show the necessary increase expected.

Changing the window might do the trick. Putting brighter dresses in. He would hold a meeting of the girls in the Dress department, popping them up, perhaps giving them prizes for doing a certain amount of business?

And definitely he must have a serious talk with Renita, cautioning her about drinking.

Concerning the Dress department, too, it would be a good idea to have a newspaper campaign. Should he fire Gordon Gavin for incompetence in copywriting? No, the lad wasn't dull, it was just that his work was unequal, due to his modestness. The kid had had tough luck in the crash of his family fortune, and the suicide of his father. Not that that must be permitted to influence one, in business.

Renita, normally, was bright, and perhaps might work alongside young Gavin in the big advertising lay-out for the Dress department? That would give them a chance to get together, and maybe patch up their differences?

For the Merchandise-Manager, as will be seen, had a soft spot for romance, though he would be the last person to admit it.

He remembered seeing Ann Delafield lunching with Gordon Gavin in the store restaurant the very day he had engaged her. Did the wind lie in that quarter? Was that why Renita had been drinking lately?

No time to dawdle. He pulled up his watch.

Dangling close to it on the thin chain was the absurd black onyx cat that the masked and hooded girl had given him at the Carnival!

"Mr. Bradley, may I speak to you a minute?" Ann Delafield stood before him, her slim hands clasped in front of her.

Light from the window caught a bracelet on her wrist that was strung with tiny toy animals. His gaze went to an infinitesimal black cat with emerald eyes. He stared. It was an exact replica of the one on his watch chain given him by the masked girl at the Carnival!

"What do you want, Miss Delafield?" he asked curtly.

Ann's quick movement to cover the bracelet by putting her right hand over her left wrist had not been lost on him.

"I've come to apologize for a dreadful mistake. I overstepped myself in letting the order for the mass and dominoes from the Gift Shop go through. People at the Ice Carnival apparently only purchased one quarter of the order."

He did not tell her that he knew all about it via Brenda Selz.

Nor that Herman Weiss, one of the two owners of the great store, had wanted to fire her for her mistake.

He looked at her steadily for a moment.

Had she come here to trade on their flirtation at the Carnival? Deliberately worn the bracelet with the similar souvenir upon it, so as to make her identity known?

A flash of his former dislike for the ways of Society women struggled with something else in the Merchandise-Manager. He wanted to shake her, to humiliate her, and yet at the same time he had a mad impulse to kiss her.

But all he said was, briefly: "Who is responsible for the order?"

"The Carnival Committee, but they disclaim it. It was really my fault for not having things clear. We all thought that the masks and dominoes would go like hot cakes, since everyone had to be incognito. But people really are so hard up," said loyal Ann, "that it's understandable lots of them couldn't afford the extra money for the evening, and made their masks and dominoes at home. I should have known that."

There was a pause. What would he say? Would she lose her job?

"Initiative is important in a store, Miss Delafield, but—" he tapped his desk with a pencil, looking away from her for a moment—"when it is a rash order it has to be—er—curbed."

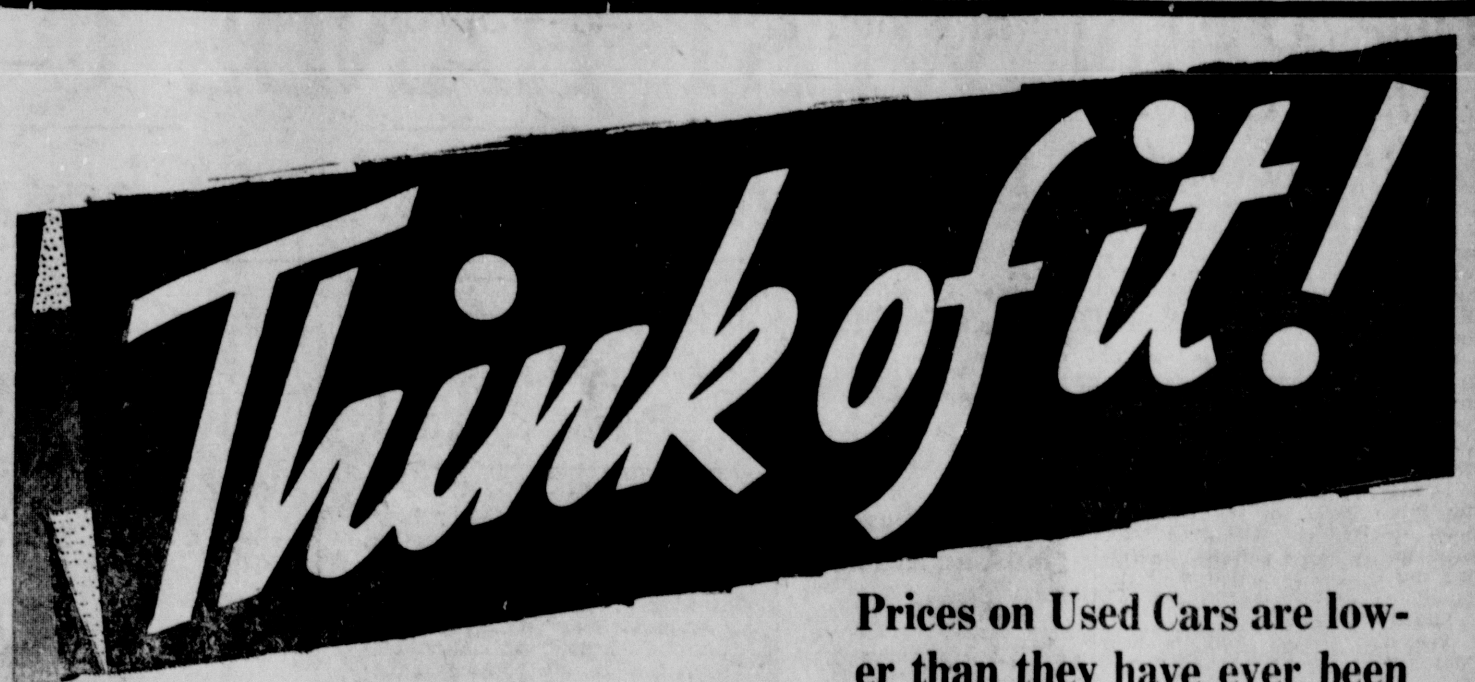

"I know. I'm sorry." She bit on her underlip to steady it. What was coming now?

M. E. Powell, Paul Frank Turn In 1244 Score To Win Two-Man Championship; No Changes Made In Singles As Tourney Ends

The two Commercial loop keggers led a final onslaught on the pins in which five teams moved into money positions in the doubles event, but no changes were made in the singles.

Powell, who leaves for Oil City, Pa., today to become manager of an S. S. Kresge store there was getting his final crack at local maps when he and Frank bounded into the top position in the two-man competition. Powell has been manager of the Kresge store here for several years.

Frank paced the championship performance of the two bowlers by turning in a splendid 593 series. Powell chalked up 519. The handicap allowed the new doubles champions was 132 pins.

Other positions to change hands last night were third, seventh, ninth and tenth.

Wilford Smith and Eddie Pukalski of the Grate Recreation team of the Commercial league combined their talents to cop third place

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Any hour now Joe Gould will announce he has taken Tommy Farr (and how that guy needs a manager) under his wing... those who ought to know insist Hooks Mylin, coach of Lafayette's undefeated and untied eleven, has the pole position in the race for Fritz Crisler's job at Princeton... Sammy Baugh wants one more year of pro football, then a coaching job... he can have plenty of both.

Anybody interested in a 21-year-old sandlot pitcher who averaged between 12 and 20 strikeouts per game?... This corner has one on file... wait and see if it isn't Joe McCarthy and not Cunnel Ruppert who swings Lou Gehrig into line... If old Dolph Luque decides to retire, Travis Jackson will be moved over from Jersey City to help coach the Giants and Freddy Lindstrom will go in as manager at Jersey City... we have an idea you're going to see the old Joe Louis (of the Carnera and Baer fights) against Nathan Mann next week.

O. E. Keeler, the Atlanta Journal golf expert, who has bowled Bobby Jones around the world, has written a book, "Golf in North Carolina," which is on a par with everything else "O. E." has written—the finished product... you won't believe this, but Abe Simon, young New York heavyweight, has such large hands he can't wear the boxing gloves formerly used by Primo Carnera.

MARSHALL WINS 7TH LOOP GAME

Thundering Herd Chalks Up Win Over Cincy Bearcats, 38-27

(By Associated Press)

Marshall college moved well along the Buckeye conference championship trail last night with a 38 to 27 victory over the Cincinnati Bearcats. It was the Thundering Herd's seventh consecutive loop win in as many games.

A victory over Miami's Redskins tonight would assure Marshall the Buckeye crown.

Cincinnati give the invaders vigorous first half opposition, but the West Virginia team forged steadily ahead during the last period. At half-time the count was 20 to 19 in the Herd's favor. Chub Watson, Marshall center, copped scoring honors with 12 points.

Mt. Union, the Ohio conference's outstanding defensive contingent, scored its eleventh loop victory by defeating Heidelberg 31 to 29. The initial period ended with the Student Princes ahead, 13-11.

The Case Scientists bagged their third conference win by humbling Baldwin Wallace, 31 to 24. Herman Weiss, Case forward, accounted for 14 markers.

Al Alvarez caged 12 points to pace the University of Toledo to a 37 to 34 victory over Akron University's Zippers. Akron led 15-12 at intermission. Charley Chuckovits, Toledo's traditional sharp-shooter, trailed Alvarez by a single point.

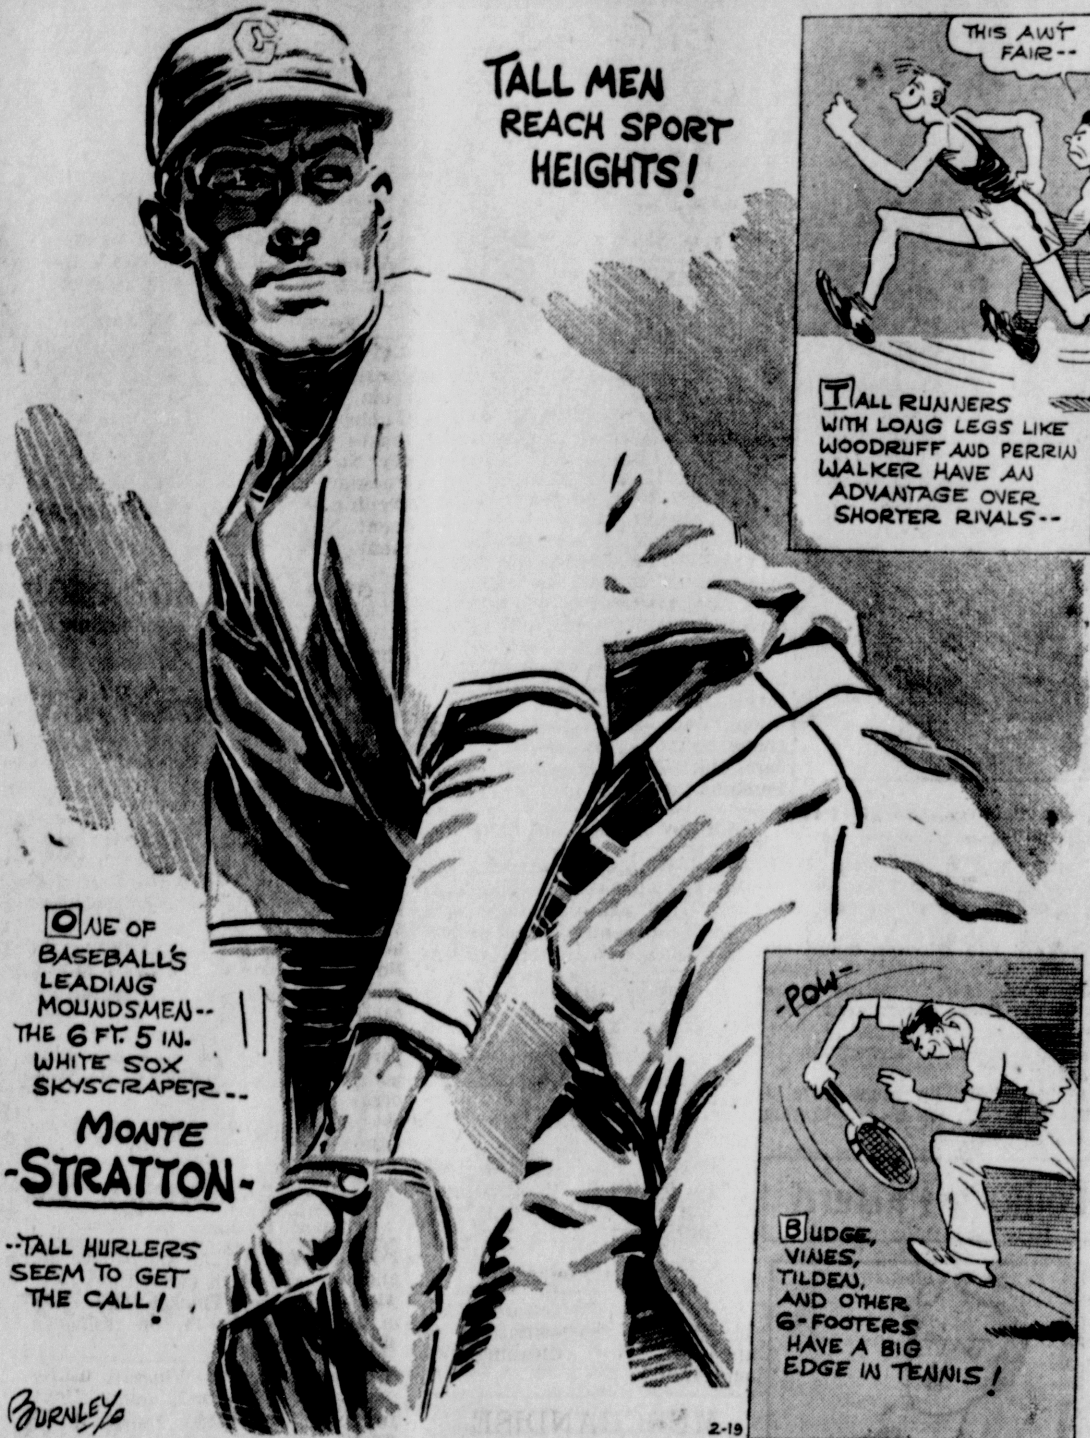

Western Reserve took John Carroll's measure, 41 to 38, after topping Carroll by one point at the half, 20-19.

Wilmington edged out Bluffton 44 to 42. The rivals were knotted at 23-all at the half. Forward Ronald Nurnal of Bluffton made 23 points. Denison's Big Red upset an Alumni aggregation, 27 to 21. The grads trailed at the half, 10 to 8.

STEELE-BARTH SET FOR BOUT

Middleweights Battle Tonight In Title Bout At Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Feb. 19.—Carmen Barth, Cleveland's former Olympic boxing champion, meets Champion Freddy Steele tonight for the middleweight title, a scheduled 15-round battle which Barth says "is all even up with me."

Barth, a shifty fighter who maneuvers his toe to gain an opening, has never before been called upon to go over a 15-round route.

"But don't forget," remarked the youth facing his big chance, "the route is something to give the other fellow a lot of thought, too. It's all even up with me."

Barth's tutors have emphasized the need for a rapid left hand against Steele's lethal right. The Cleveland's left has been his mainstay in his brief but impressive professional career.

The champion was one pound under the weight limit of 160 pounds yesterday, and Barth—whose battle weight usually is around 165—was a pound over.

The Tacoma, Wash., titleholder has been guaranteed a $20,000 purse for the encounter. James J. Braddock, former heavyweight champion, will referee the bout, headliner on a charity benefit card.

The New York State Boxing Commission announced it would not recognize the set-to as a championship match, claiming Barth was not a suitable challenger.

The semi-final bout is a six-rounder between two Cleveland lightweights, Mike Gamiere and Ray Sharkey.

Other preliminaries, all for six rounds, include: Mike Mitchell of Steubenville vs Ted Keating of Cleveland, light heavyweights.

Salem High Cagers Lose To Rubber City Cowboys In One-Sided Floor Tilt

Quakers Suffer Worst Defeat of Season In Losing To Akron West, 35-15; Johnson, Hallinan and Fabre Lead Cowboys To Victory

Stock in Salem High school's 1937-38 basketball team was on the decline today as the aftermath of the Quakers' worst defeat of the season—a 35 to 15 set-back handed them by Akron West's larrupin' Cowboys at Perkins' gym in Akron last night.

Lacking and semblance of an offense or defense, the Quakers fell before the Cowboys without so much as a struggle. It was their fourth defeat in 13 games and their worst set-back since the 45 to 9 lacing they received from Massillon last season.

The Red and Black lads will be in action again tonight, meeting Wellsville's Bengals on the local court in their final home game of the season. A victory will give Salem the Columbiana county scholastic championship for the first time since the 1934-35 season.

In making the Quakers their 10th victim in 13 games to date, the Cowboys, who are currently tied with Akron North for the lead in the Rubber City championship race, had things all their own way.

Paced by Jimmy Johnson, flashy Negro forward, Louis Fabre and Neal Hallinan, the West quintet rolled up a commanding lead in the opening quarter and continued to increase its advantage throughout the remaining periods.

The Cowboys outscored the Quakers eight points to two in the first quarter, 12 points to five in the second period, eight points to four in the third frame and seven points to four in the final stanza.

By periods, the Rubber City combine was out in front 8 to 2 at the close of the first quarter, 20 to 7 at halftime and 28 to 11 at the end of the third stanza.

Johnson, a clever ball-handler, fancy shot artist and tricky floor man, led the West offensive attack, although Fabre topped the individual scoring with 11 points, made on five field goals and one free throw. Johnson scored seven points as did Hallinan.

The defensive strength of the West quintet was centered in Fabre and Hallinan. The former held Max Lutsch to one field goal while the latter kept Bill Schaeffer from scoring. Both Fabre and Hallinan showed up well in dragging in rebounds.

Although the Quakers general performance was "sluggish" and lackadaisical, it was in rebounding they showed up the poorest. Fabre and Hallinan outplayed Lutsch and Schaeffer by a wide margin in this department of the game and as a result the Cowboys controlled the ball the greater part of the time.

Failure of the Quakers to perform up to par in rebounding and undoubtedly cramped their offensive and defensive performance. However, this alone did not keep them from staging a more even battle. Their guarding was poor and their floor-work and shooting accuracy way below par. At no time were they a threat to the Cowboys' chances for victory.

The majority of the Red and Black lads shooting was done from around the foul zone as the Cowboys threw up a tight defense in close to the basket. Ollie Olexa, who was held to one field goal and one foul, was unable to get in close for his usual number of short shots and his shooting from near mid-court was off form.

Schaeffer received more shots at the basket than any other Salem
